RAPID RESPONSE™

AMERDON

IN RESEARCH THERE COMES A TIME WHEN A BREAKTHROUGH OCCURS AND EVERYTHING CHANGES FOREVER.

Due to a career change and belt tightening it's been a year since I've ordered, but I've come to the conclusion that my horse was amazingly better with your product. My horse had several problems when I first started using the product and once on Rapid Response F, we had a great 4 year run. After my stopping of the product he was never quite the same and over the last 3 months has been especially bad. Trotting not lame, but he wants to limit the range of motion of his back leg. He is also not wanting to pick up the canter. If he does pick it up he ends up stumbling and breaks back to the trot. I've had ultra sound on the suspensory, x-rays of stifle and hock, and a legend shot in case any arthritis that wasn't visible on x-rays was present. My only recourse was to go back to what worked before and that is Rapid Response. Cross your fingers for him because he does love to work and although he is equally fond of walking and grazing I know he's bored.

P.A. 11-02-06

Stay in touch and let me know how he is doing. You may want to give him 6 ounces for a couple of days then switch to 4 ounces a day or whatever you feel is best. Also when you get him back to normal you can maintain on the regular formula which is $150/gallon + free quart and has been greatly improved as has the F since you bought them last. I did this to make Rapid Response affordable for everybody. I realize people cannot afford to pay $269 per month every month but if they can solve their problems and maintain on 2 ounces a day of the regular RR (minimum dose) this would only cost about $75 or less a month and RR will replace many other products a person uses so this will make it very affordable.

Subject: WOW!!!

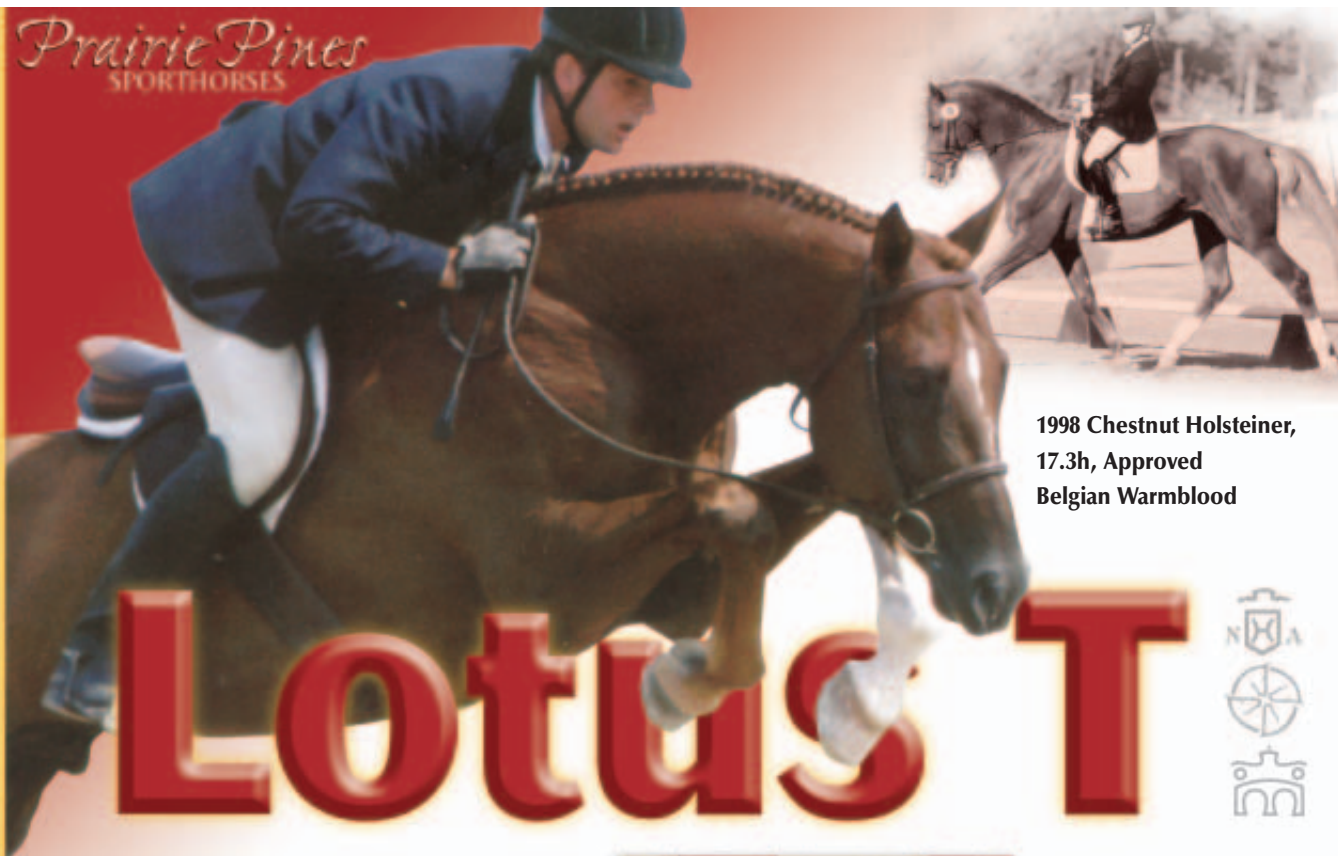

Hi Sharone. Well, I wrapped for the first time in my life today. Let's rate it a C. Can only get better with time. Funny what you can get away with when Champ has his head in the feed bucket. I did our normal thing this afternoon when I showed up, and turned him out in the small arena about a 100 X 50. I had not seen Champ roll in a month or so as he normally just walks around. Today he found a place to roll at one end of the arena. Got up and shook himself off, turned around and passed where I was standing at a gallop!!! When he got to the end of the arena he stopped, snorted a couple of times and pranced back to where I was standing, looked me in the eye and snorted again as if to say "pritty good hu?" I just stood there with my mouth open and picking my heart up off the ground and told him to "stop behaving like a 3 year old. What are you trying to do make this old man older?"

I have a little over a quart in him starting this third week all oral. Kay told me the first thing I would notice was his comfort level would increase. LIKE YA!!! I walked him around to all the favorite "honey holes" where there is feed droppings and then walked him back to his stall. I didn't see him favor either leg. So far so good. M

Lotus T

Lotus T is an exquisite stallion of modern type, displaying world-class elastic movement and unparalleled jumping ability. As a 4 year-old in 2002, Lotus T placed 3rd at the 100-day stallion testing behind two 7 year-old stallions. His total index was 110.23, with jumping index of 119.52. He was awarded the highest scores on gaits from the ground jury. Lotus T excels in both in the hunters and in the jumper ring, is highly regarded by several European dressage masters and was named "potentially the best young event sire in North America" by the USEA magazine. A prepotent stallion, Lotus T endows his offspring with beautiful heads and topline, powerful hind ends, long legs and exceptionally elastic movement! Lotus T's very first offspring, Coverboy, a 4 year old gelding has been consistently winning in the level 4 jumpers. Lotus T has sired champion colts and fillies at both the Belgian Warmblood and Holsteiner inspection tours.
